The PTOL 1449 has been received, reviewed and considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. Claim 1 recites the limitation "method" in line 1. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Please insert the word --A --before the word "method" for proper antecedence.
3. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 6 is being considered vague and indefinite in the use of the terminology "...characterized in that..." The terminology "...characterized in that..." does not meet up to date U.S. Patent practice standards. Is the claim language open or closed? The terminology is vague and indefinite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1-6 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 3,637,686 (Kokubo, et al).

Kokubo, et al teaches a method for crystallizing melamine, comprising crude molten melamine or a mixture of said melamine with ammonia, carbon dioxide, and etc. passes through a pipe (1) where it is depressurized and atomized or "sprayed" when it enters a pressure cooler (2), which is composed of the first step cooling section (23) (200 to 270°C) at the top, the second step cooling section (18) (100 to 200°C) in the middle, and the melamine-dissolving and impurities-decomposing section (100 to 200°C) at the bottom. The pressure cooler is maintained at a pressure of 5 to 100 kb/cm² and an ammonia concentration of 5 to 80% by weight. The melamine solution extracted from a pipe (3) is depressurized and cooled in the degasification column (5), which is maintained at a pressure of 1 to 15 kg/cm².

The difference being that Kokubo, et al does not exactly teach a method for crystallizing a melamine melt, wherein "...at most 10% of CO₂ relative to the sprayed quantity of melamine melt..." or a method of manufacturing melamine from urea to form melamine in a reactor at a pressure between 4 and 25 MPa and a temperature between 330 and 430°C. However, in the absence of unobvious results, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify and optimize the process parameter limitations, as stated in Kokubo, et al, in order to ensure optimal optimization.

Expected beneficial results are evidence of obviousness, just as unexpected beneficial results are evidence of unobviousness. In re Novak 16 USPQ 2d 2041 (Fed. Cir., BPAI 1989); In re Hoffman 194 USPQ 126 (CCPA 1977); In re Skoll 187 USPQ

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
